

Week 4 – Summer CSA

June 27 – July 3, 2022

Hi CSA members,

This last weekend's heat wave felt manageable for the farm team, and really kicked some of our warm-season crops into gear. Zucchini and cucumber production rose substantially, and growth rates of tomatoes and various greens are strong now. After the especially prolonged wet spring, we are certainly happy for the warmth, as well as the dryness to give us full flexibility for our ground work around the farm. More and more crew time these days is going toward trellising vining crops, and in the next month much of the farm will be going vertical – always a beautiful sight by late July. One hallmark of farmers is their ability to think ahead, and, in addition to planting and tending our summer crops, we are also already planting the cool season crops for the fall and winter season ahead....

As the cycle continues here, we wish you a splendid week, and thank you for communing with our early summer produce. It is an honor to have your support this year.

Box contents, Week 4:

- Fava Beans
- Romaine Lettuce
- Zucchini
- Cucumbers
- Carrots
- Bok Choy
- Dandelion
- Red Onion
- Sweet Onion
- Red potatoes

