

CSA NEWSLETTER

WEEK 10 - 08/11/2026

CSA members get a sample of every single vegetable we grow on the farm. You get the first harvest of all crops, and we grow some items only for you. We like having a diverse selection so you can try new vegetables, experiment in the kitchen, and learn about Oregon's seasonal produce. Certainly, diversity is also important for the farm's ecosystemic health and resilience, and it's crucial for growing organic.

Throughout the year, different crops are abundant, either because we decided we wanted it that way or because the weather and natural selection did their thing. Today, the bounty of summer staples is amazing, and we believe canning season has arrived! We want to make sure you don't miss it, and we're sharing our wholesale price list for the next couple of weeks. If you'd like to place a bulk order, please see the "Bulk Sales List" on the 2026 CSA Newsletter page of the website, or attached here. There you'll find the details on pricing and logistics.

I personally enjoy making ketchup, kraut, and kimchi. I also preserve non-k foods like pickled peppers, beets and onion, cowboy candy, and blackberry jam. Canning is a good opportunity to slow down, cook with friends, save the flavors of summer for winter, and add fermented foods to your diet. It's our privilege to share the bounty with you, and to support Oregonians in eating locally grown produce year-round!

HOW TO ORDER

To order, email Joe at GTF@GatheringTogetherFarm.com by the deadline as shown below. All orders will be confirmed via email, and we will send an invoice with each order.

When placing an order, please include in your email: your name, phone number, item & quantity, pick-up location (which CSA pick-up location you're at), and payment method (mailed check or over-the-phone card for non-market CSA locations, or cash/card/check at the farmer's market).

- Order by 4:30 AM THURSDAY for Weekend Market Pickup
- Order by 4:30 AM MONDAY for Weekday Pickup

We have a wider selection of veggies, so email us if there's something you'd like that is not listed.
